WIC-Overseas Program Arrives In Stuttgart

The Women, Infants and Children Overseas Program is available to service members and families stationed in Stuttgart beginning Dec. 6. WIC provides food, nutritional education and counseling and health referrals. Participation in the program is associated with improved school readiness, reduction in infant mortality and improved cognitive development and immunization rates. In order to be eligible for WIC, potential participants must meet five criteria: categorical, income, participant type, residential and nutritional and medical risk. Once participants have been deemed eligible for the WIC Overseas program, they will receive vouchers that allow them to purchase monthly food packages. In addition to the food benefits, participants benefit from education from breast feeding specialists, individualized nutrition counseling and group nutritional education sessions and referrals to other health care and social services. For info on the WIC Overseas program visit the Web site at www.fns.usda.gov/wic or call Army Community Service at 430-7176/civ. 0711-680-7176.

Suspicious activity or possible acts of terrorism should be immediately reported to the Provost Marshal for appropriate investigation at 430-5261/civ. 0711-680-5261.

Holiday Screening For Packages

This holiday mailing season, be prepared to answer questions relating to packages to be shipped. If someone requests that you mail a package for them to the United States, the person with the package should contact a postal clerk and advise them of the situation. If the person is a stranger, the MP's should be notified. This is not only a force protection issue; it may also be a U.S. Customs issue.

Surveys Will Help Determine COLA

Two surveys are currently being conducted that will help determine if the Cost of Living Allowance given to U.S. service members living abroad is sufficient. Now is the time to take control of your paycheck. Accurate and complete surveys can help ensure that pay better reflects actual expenses incurred. To complete the survey, access the 266th Finance Web Site at www.266fc.hqusareur.army.mil/default.htm and click on "cola survey". The survey only takes a few minutes and may help give those stationed overseas a higher Cost of Living Allowance.
